Home Discussions

You could have a look at photos of people at home at different ages. Can you tell who they are? How have they changed and how are they the same?

RHE & Science

In Piece 4 children learn the correct names for 'private' body parts. It is important for safeguarding that children can correctly identify parts of their own body and understand that some body parts are private. Children may feel embarrassed and giggle when talking about these body parts and this is fine as it helps children to understand that these are private body parts that we do not usually talk about. The vulva can be described as the outside part of a females 'private parts' and the anus as where the body gets rid of poo.
